Group Presentation 1
Data Literacy

Overview

Each group will present the two types of data sources they think are most ideal for their research area. The presentation should explain why they are ideal for your topic, the best manner for collecting the data, and the major ethical considerations relating to handling the data using the rubric provided in the data ethics module.