

Student Resources

This page provides student resources related to research and writing. You will find information on locating historical primary sources for traditional research, locations for historical databases for digital research, locations for finding secondary sources, and writing resources. This is a growing list. It is not comprehensive, but it hopes to be a good starting point for students. It is primarily directed toward European, Middle Eastern, and Digital resources, but it will expand in the future to include American history and Latin American history resources.

Available Resources

Writing Essays

Primary Sources

Citing Sources